	PRIMARY SOURCES
A.	1987 CONSTITUTION OF THE REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES
1.	CONST. art. II, sec. 2. By adopting the generally accepted principles of international law as part of the law of the land, this incorporation clause is the gateway through which international human rights norms on equality and family life are invoked in the same-sex marriage debate.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
2.	CONST. art. II, sec. 6. Declares the separation of Church and State inviolable, a principle invoked by those who argue that religious conceptions of marriage cannot by themselves justify withholding civil recognition from same-sex couples.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library

3.	CONST. art. II, sec. 11. Commits the State to value the dignity of every human person and to guarantee full respect for human rights, a policy cited by advocates of legal recognition for same-sex partnerships.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
4.	CONST. art. II, sec. 12. Recognizes the sanctity of family life and protects the family as a basic autonomous social institution, framing the question of whether households formed by same-sex partners fall within the State's protection of families.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
5.	CONST. art. III, sec. 1. The due process and equal protection clauses are the principal constitutional grounds invoked in Falcis against the Family Code's restriction of marriage to a man and a woman, and were applied in Ang Ladlad to strike down discrimination against an LGBT group.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
6.	CONST. art. III, sec. 5. Guarantees the free exercise of religion and prohibits its establishment, provisions relied upon in Ang Ladlad against religion-based exclusion and invoked in Falcis by a church that sought to solemnize same-sex unions.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
7.	CONST. art. XIII, sec. 18. Empowers the Commission on Human Rights to investigate human rights violations and to recommend measures to Congress, the constitutional basis of its advocacy for SOGIESC equality and civil partnership legislation.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
8.	CONST. art. XV, sec. 1. Recognizes the Filipino family as the foundation of the nation without defining "family" by reference to the sex of its members.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library

9.	CONST. art. XV, sec. 2. Declares marriage an inviolable social institution and the foundation of the family; as the Supreme Court observed in Falcis, the Constitution does not define or restrict marriage on the basis of sex, gender, sexual orientation, or gender identity or expression.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
10.	CONST. art. XV, sec. 3, par. (1). Protects the right of spouses to found a family in accordance with their religious convictions, a right that presupposes a legally recognized marriage which same-sex couples presently cannot contract.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
B.	STATUTES AND INTERNATIONAL LAW
1.	FAMILY CODE, art. 1. Defines marriage as "a special contract of permanent union between a man and a woman," the core statutory provision excluding same-sex couples from marriage and the main target of the petition in Falcis.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
2.	FAMILY CODE, art. 2 (1). Requires, as an essential requisite of marriage, the legal capacity of the contracting parties "who must be a male and a female," the absence of which renders a marriage void ab initio under Article 4.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
3.	FAMILY CODE, art. 26, par. 1. Recognizes as valid in the Philippines marriages validly solemnized abroad, subject to listed exceptions, the provision on which arguments for recognizing same-sex marriages of Filipinos celebrated abroad are built.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
4.	FAMILY CODE, art. 45 (3), in relation to art. 46 (4). Treats the concealment of "homosexuality or lesbianism existing at the time of the marriage" as fraud that renders a marriage voidable, a provision assailed in Falcis and applied in Salva-Roldan v. Roldan.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library

5.	FAMILY CODE, art. 55 (6). Makes the "lesbianism or homosexuality of the respondent" a ground for legal separation, a provision likewise assailed in Falcis as discriminatory against LGBT persons.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
6.	FAMILY CODE, art. 148. Governs property relations in cohabitation not covered by Article 147, recognizing co-ownership only in proportion to actual joint contributions, the rule the Supreme Court applied to same-sex partners in Josef v. Ursua.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
7.	CIVIL CODE, art. 15. Under the nationality principle, laws on family rights and duties and on the status and legal capacity of persons bind Filipinos even abroad, which bears on whether a same-sex marriage contracted by Filipinos in another country is valid in the Philippines.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
8.	CIVIL CODE, art. 17, par. 3. Provides that prohibitive laws concerning persons, and those involving public order, public policy, and good customs, are not rendered ineffective by foreign laws or judgments, a potential limit on recognizing foreign same-sex marriages of Filipinos.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
9.	REV. PEN. CODE, art. 352. Penalizes priests, ministers, and civil authorities who perform or authorize any illegal marriage ceremony, exposing officiants of same-sex unions to possible criminal liability.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
10.	MUSLIM CODE, arts. 14, 16. Defines marriage under Muslim personal law as both a civil contract and a social institution governed by the Code and the Shari'a, and confers capacity to marry on "any Muslim male" and "any Muslim female," excluding same-sex unions among Filipino Muslims.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library

11.	Rep. Act No. 9262 (2004), sec. 3 (a). Defines violence against women and their children as acts committed by "any person" against a woman with whom the person has or had a sexual or dating relationship, language the Supreme Court has read to cover lesbian relationships.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
12.	Rep. Act No. 9710 (2009), sec. 19. The Magna Carta of Women directs the State to eliminate discrimination against women in all matters relating to marriage and family relations, framing marital rights in terms of equality between women and men.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
13.	Rep. Act No. 11313 (2019), sec. 4. The Safe Spaces Act penalizes gender-based sexual harassment in streets and public spaces, expressly including "transphobic, homophobic and sexist slurs," thereby protecting LGBT persons, including same-sex couples, from harassment in public.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
14.	Rep. Act No. 11199 (2019), sec. 8 (e), (k). Limits a Social Security System member's dependents and primary beneficiaries to the legal spouse and children, so that a same-sex partner may receive death benefits only as a designated beneficiary in the absence of all legal dependents.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
15.	Rep. Act No. 8291 (1997), sec. 2 (f)-(h). Defines the dependents and beneficiaries of GSIS members by reference to the legitimate or legal spouse, leaving same-sex partners of government employees outside the survivorship benefits available to married spouses.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
16.	Rep. Act No. 11642 (2022), sec. 21. Enumerates who may adopt under the administrative adoption process; because same-sex unions are not legally recognized, same-sex partners may adopt only as individual adopters and not jointly as spouses.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library

17.	Rep. Act No. 10172 (2012), sec. 1. Allows the administrative correction of clerical or typographical errors in the sex entry of a birth certificate but not a change of sex, leaving intact the rule in Silverio that bears on a person's sex-based capacity to marry.	Mandatory	Official Gazette; Supreme Court E-Library
18.	International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, December 19, 1966 (1976), 999 U.N.T.S. 171, art. 23. Protects the family and recognizes "the right of men and women of marriageable age to marry," gendered wording that the Human Rights Committee in Joslin read as not requiring States to open marriage to same-sex couples.	Mandatory	United Nations Treaty Collection (treaties.un.org); OHCHR website (ohchr.org)
19.	International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, December 19, 1966 (1976), 999 U.N.T.S. 171, arts. 2 (1), 17, 26. Guarantees non-discrimination, equality before the law, and protection against interference with privacy and family, which the Human Rights Committee has read to prohibit discrimination based on sexual orientation.	Mandatory	United Nations Treaty Collection (treaties.un.org); OHCHR website (ohchr.org)
20.	International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, December 19, 1966 (1976), 993 U.N.T.S. 3, art. 10 (1). Accords "the widest possible protection and assistance" to the family and requires that marriage be entered into with the free consent of the intending spouses, without specifying the sex of the spouses.	Mandatory	United Nations Treaty Collection (treaties.un.org); OHCHR website (ohchr.org)
21.	Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, July 15, 1980 (1981), 1249 U.N.T.S. 13, art. 16. Obliges States to eliminate discrimination against women in matters relating to marriage and family relations on a basis of equality of men and women, the source of the Magna Carta of Women's marriage provisions.	Mandatory	United Nations Treaty Collection (treaties.un.org); OHCHR website (ohchr.org)

22.	Universal Declaration of Human Rights, G.A. Res. 217 (III) A, U.N. Doc. A/RES/217(III), art. 16 (December 10, 1948). Declares that "men and women of full age" have the right to marry and to found a family, the model for the marriage provisions of later human rights treaties.	Persuasive	United Nations website (un.org); UN Digital Library
23.	Toonen v. Australia, Communication No. 488/1992, U.N. Doc. CCPR/C/50/D/488/1992 (Human Rights Comm., March 31, 1994). The Human Rights Committee held that the reference to "sex" in Articles 2 (1) and 26 of the ICCPR includes sexual orientation, laying the foundation for sexual-orientation equality claims under the Covenant.	Persuasive	OHCHR Jurisprudence Database (juris.ohchr.org); UN Treaty Body Database
24.	Joslin v. New Zealand, Communication No. 902/1999, U.N. Doc. CCPR/C/75/D/902/1999 (Human Rights Comm., July 17, 2002). The Committee held that a State's refusal to allow same-sex couples to marry does not violate the ICCPR because Article 23 (2) refers specifically to "men and women."	Persuasive	OHCHR Jurisprudence Database (juris.ohchr.org); UN Treaty Body Database
25.	Young v. Australia, Communication No. 941/2000, U.N. Doc. CCPR/C/78/D/941/2000 (Human Rights Comm., August 6, 2003). The Committee found that denying a veterans' pension to the surviving same-sex partner of a veteran violated the equality guarantee of Article 26.	Persuasive	OHCHR Jurisprudence Database (juris.ohchr.org); UN Treaty Body Database
26.	X v. Colombia, Communication No. 1361/2005, U.N. Doc. CCPR/C/89/D/1361/2005 (Human Rights Comm., March 30, 2007). The Committee held that denying a pension to the surviving partner of a same-sex union, where unmarried heterosexual partners were entitled, was discrimination based on sexual orientation under Article 26.	Persuasive	OHCHR Jurisprudence Database (juris.ohchr.org); UN Treaty Body Database
27.	Human Rights Comm., Concluding Observations: Philippines, U.N. Doc. CCPR/C/PHL/CO/4 (November 13, 2012). The Committee urged the Philippines to adopt a comprehensive anti-discrimination law that covers sexual orientation and gender identity, noting that the pending bill had not been passed.	Persuasive	UN Treaty Body Database (tbinternet.ohchr.org); UN Digital Library

28.	Human Rights Council Res. 17/19, U.N. Doc. A/HRC/RES/17/19 (June 17, 2011). The first United Nations resolution on human rights, sexual orientation, and gender identity, expressing grave concern over violence and discrimination on these grounds.	Persuasive	UN Digital Library; OHCHR website (ohchr.org)
29.	Human Rights Council Res. 32/2, U.N. Doc. A/HRC/RES/32/2 (June 30, 2016). Created the mandate of the Independent Expert on protection against violence and discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity.	Persuasive	UN Digital Library; OHCHR website (ohchr.org)
C.	CONGRESSIONAL BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, AND COMMITTEE REPORTS
1.	S. No. 1600, 19th Cong., 1st Sess. (2022). The Senate's consolidated "SOGIESC Equality Act," which would penalize discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, and sex characteristics, but which was never approved in plenary.	Persuasive	Senate Legislative Information System (web.senate.gov.ph); Senate Legislative Reference Bureau
2.	Comm. on Women, Children, Family Relations and Gender Equality & Comm. on Finance, S. Rpt. 15, 19th Cong., 1st Sess. (2022). The joint committee report recommending approval of S. No. 1600, signed by a majority of senators but referred back to the Committee on Rules after opposition from religious groups.	Persuasive	Senate Legislative Information System (web.senate.gov.ph); Senate Legislative Reference Bureau
3.	S. No. 449, 19th Cong., 1st Sess. (2022). Senator Robinhood Padilla's bill "Institutionalizing Civil Unions of Same Sex Couples, Establishing Their Rights and Obligations," which would grant same-sex civil partners the benefits and protections enjoyed by married couples.	Persuasive	Senate Legislative Information System (web.senate.gov.ph); Senate Legislative Reference Bureau
4.	H. No. 1015, 19th Cong., 1st Sess. (2022). The "Civil Partnership Act," which would allow couples of the same or opposite sex to enter into civil partnerships with rights such as designating partners as beneficiaries and inheriting from them by intestate succession.	Persuasive	House of Representatives Legislative Information System (congress.gov.ph)

5.	H. No. 2264, 18th Cong., 1st Sess. (2019). Representative Pantaleon Alvarez's refiled Civil Partnership bill allowing couples of the same or opposite sex to form civil partnerships, which remained pending at the committee level.	Persuasive	House of Representatives Legislative Information System (congress.gov.ph)
6.	H. No. 6595, 17th Cong., 2d Sess. (2017). The Civil Partnership Act filed by then Speaker Pantaleon Alvarez, proposing to extend the benefits and protections granted to spouses to same-sex and opposite-sex civil partners.	Persuasive	House of Representatives Legislative Information System (congress.gov.ph)
7.	H. No. 4982, 17th Cong., 1st Sess. (2017). The SOGIE Equality Act, approved by the House of Representatives on third reading on September 20, 2017 by a vote of 198–0, but never enacted after stalling in the Senate.	Persuasive	House of Representatives Legislative Information System (congress.gov.ph)
D.	EXECUTIVE AND ADMINISTRATIVE ISSUANCES (QUASI-LEGISLATIVE)
1.	CSC Res. No. 01-0940 (2001). The Administrative Disciplinary Rules on Sexual Harassment Cases classify degrading remarks or innuendoes directed at a person's sexual orientation as an offense, a rule applied by the Supreme Court in Espejon v. Lorredo to a judge's remarks against a same-sex couple.	Mandatory	Civil Service Commission (csc.gov.ph); Office of the National Administrative Register (ONAR), U.P. Law Center
E.	EXECUTIVE AND ADMINISTRATIVE DECISIONS (QUASI-JUDICIAL)
1.	In re Ang Ladlad LGBT Party, COMELEC SPP No. 09-228 (PL), November 11, 2009. The COMELEC Second Division denied an LGBT group's petition for party-list registration on moral grounds, citing Biblical and Koranic passages, a ruling the Supreme Court later set aside.	Persuasive	Commission on Elections (deciding agency); quoted in Ang Ladlad (Supreme Court E-Library)

2.	In re Ang Ladlad LGBT Party, COMELEC SPP No. 09-228 (PL), December 16, 2009. The COMELEC En Banc, in a divided vote, denied reconsideration, prompting the certiorari petition that produced the Supreme Court's leading decision on LGBT equality.	Persuasive	Commission on Elections (deciding agency); quoted in Ang Ladlad (Supreme Court E-Library)
F.	JUDICIAL ISSUANCES (SUPREME COURT)
1.	RULES OF COURT, Rule 108. Provides the judicial procedure for the cancellation or correction of entries in the civil register, the remedy invoked in Silverio and Cagandahan to change the sex entry that determines capacity to marry under the Family Code.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph); Supreme Court Library
2.	VOID AND VOIDABLE MARRIAGES RULE, A.M. No. 02-11-10-SC, effective March 15, 2003. Governs the procedure in petitions for declaration of nullity and annulment of marriage, including annulment actions grounded on the fraudulent concealment of homosexuality under Article 46 (4) of the Family Code.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph); Supreme Court Library
3.	LEGAL SEPARATION RULE, A.M. No. 02-11-11-SC, effective March 15, 2003. Governs petitions for legal separation, including those grounded on the lesbianism or homosexuality of the respondent under Article 55 (6) of the Family Code.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph); Supreme Court Library
4.	New Code of Judicial Conduct for the Philippine Judiciary, A.M. No. 03-05-01-SC, Canon 5, secs. 1-2 (2004). Requires judges to understand diversity in society and not to manifest bias or prejudice on irrelevant grounds, standards the Supreme Court enforced in Espejon v. Lorredo against a judge who disparaged litigants' same-sex relationship.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph); Supreme Court Library

5.	Code of Professional Responsibility and Accountability, A.M. No. 22-09-01-SC, Canon V, sec. 1 (2023). Prohibits a lawyer from declining to represent a person solely on account of sexual orientation or gender identity, among other grounds, securing access to counsel for same-sex couples asserting their rights.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph); Supreme Court Library
G.	JUDICIAL DECISIONS
1.	Falcis III v. Civil Registrar General, G.R. No. 217910, September 3, 2019. The Court En Banc dismissed the first petition to declare Family Code Articles 1, 2, 46 (4), and 55 (6) unconstitutional for lack of an actual case, lack of standing, and disregard of the hierarchy of courts, while noting that the Constitution does not restrict marriage on the basis of sex or sexual orientation and leaving the matter to Congress.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
2.	Garcia v. Drilon, G.R. No. 179267, June 25, 2013. In upholding R.A. No. 9262, the Court En Banc recognized that the law's gender-neutral term "any person" may cover a woman offender in a lesbian relationship, a point later applied in Jacinto v. Fouts.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
3.	Ang Ladlad LGBT Party v. Commission on Elections, 632 Phil. 32 (2010). The Court held that denying party-list accreditation to an LGBT group on religious and moral grounds violated the non-establishment clause, equal protection, and freedom of expression and association, while describing the Yogyakarta Principles as at best de lege ferenda.	Mandatory	Philippine Reports, vol. 632; Supreme Court E-Library
4.	Estrada v. Escritor, 455 Phil. 411 (2003); 525 Phil. 110 (2006). Adopted benevolent neutrality and the compelling state interest test in resolving a religiously sanctioned non-marital union, the framework for weighing religious claims on both sides of the same-sex marriage debate.	Mandatory	Philippine Reports, vols. 455 & 525; Supreme Court E-Library

5.	Goitia v. Campos Rueda, 35 Phil. 252 (1916). Described marriage as “something more than a mere contract,” a relation whose rights and duties rest on the general law rather than on the parties’ agreement, a characterization central to whether the State may redefine who may marry.	Mandatory	Philippine Reports, vol. 35; Supreme Court E-Library
6.	Josef v. Ursua, G.R. No. 267469, February 5, 2025. The Court held that the property relations of cohabiting same-sex partners are governed by Article 148 of the Family Code, so that a partner who proves actual contribution is a co-owner, while stating that broader protection for same-sex couples is for Congress to provide.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
7.	Salva-Roldan v. Roldan, G.R. No. 268109, March 3, 2025. The Court annulled a marriage on the ground of the husband’s fraudulent concealment of his homosexuality under Article 45 (3) in relation to Article 46 (4), reiterating that concealment, not homosexuality itself, vitiates consent.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
8.	Jacinto v. Fouts, G.R. No. 250627 (Resolution), December 7, 2022. The Court sustained a prosecution under R.A. No. 9262 between former female live-in partners, holding that the law’s application to lesbian relationships had already been settled in Garcia v. Drilon.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
9.	Espejon v. Lorredo, A.M. No. MTJ-22-007, March 9, 2022. The Court suspended and fined a judge for homophobic remarks against litigants on account of their perceived same-sex relationship, finding a violation of the New Code of Judicial Conduct and work-related sexual harassment.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
10.	Republic v. Cagandahan, 586 Phil. 637 (2008). The Court allowed an intersex person with congenital adrenal hyperplasia to change the registered sex from female to male and the registered name, bearing on how “male” and “female” are determined for purposes of capacity to marry.	Mandatory	Philippine Reports, vol. 586; Supreme Court E-Library

11.	Almelor v. Regional Trial Court of Las Piñas City, G.R. No. 179620, August 26, 2008. The Court ruled that it is the concealment of homosexuality, not homosexuality per se, that constitutes fraud under Article 46 (4), and found the evidence insufficient to annul the marriage.	Mandatory	Supreme Court E-Library; Supreme Court website (sc.judiciary.gov.ph)
12.	Silverio v. Republic, 562 Phil. 953 (2007). The Court denied a transsexual woman's petition to change the name and sex entries in her birth certificate, reasoning that no law allows it and that granting it would permit a union between two persons of the same birth sex despite marriage being between a man and a woman.	Mandatory	Philippine Reports, vol. 562; Supreme Court E-Library
H.	LOCAL ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS
1.	Quezon City Ordinance No. SP-3221, S-2023, September 25, 2023. Requires health facilities in Quezon City to recognize health care proxies, institutionalizing the "Right to Care" card that allows same-sex partners to make medical decisions for each other through a special power of attorney.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Quezon City; Quezon City Public Library digital repository (LIBROS)
2.	San Juan City Ordinance No. 16, S-2025 (2025). San Juan's "Right to Care" Ordinance requires public and private health facilities in the city to honor the Right to Care Card, through which LGBTQIA+ partners may make medical decisions for one another.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng San Juan City
3.	Quezon City Ordinance No. SP-3417, S-2025, June 16, 2025. Revises the Quezon City Gender-Fair Ordinance into a comprehensive anti-discrimination policy on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, and sex characteristics (SOGIESC).	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Quezon City; Quezon City Public Library digital repository (LIBROS)
4.	Quezon City Ordinance No. SP-2357, S-2014, November 28, 2014. The Quezon City Gender-Fair Ordinance prohibits discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity and expression in employment, education, accommodation, and the delivery of goods and services.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Quezon City; Quezon City Public Library digital repository (LIBROS)

5.	Quezon City Ordinance No. SP-1309, S-2003. An early local ordinance prohibiting discrimination against homosexuals in the workplace, later expanded by the Gender-Fair Ordinance.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Quezon City
6.	Davao City Ordinance No. 0417-12 (2012). Davao City's Anti-Discrimination Ordinance declares unlawful acts of discrimination based on, among others, sex, gender identity, and sexual orientation.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Davao City
7.	Cebu City Ordinance No. 2339 (2012). Prohibits discrimination on the basis of, among others, sexual orientation and gender identity, illustrating how LGBT protection has developed through local legislation in the absence of a national law.	Mandatory	Sangguniang Panlungsod ng Cebu City
I.	REGIONAL SOURCES OF LAW
1.	ASEAN Human Rights Declaration, art. 19 (November 18, 2012). Adopted by ASEAN leaders including the Philippines, it recognizes the right of "men and women of full age" to marry and found a family "as prescribed by law," deferring to national law on the definition of marriage.	Persuasive	ASEAN Secretariat website (asean.org)
2.	Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, November 4, 1950 (1953), 213 U.N.T.S. 221, arts. 8, 12, 14. The European Convention's guarantees of private and family life, the right to marry, and non-discrimination, through which the European Court of Human Rights developed its case law on same-sex couples.	Persuasive	Council of Europe Treaty Office (coe.int); United Nations Treaty Series
3.	Schalk & Kopf v. Austria, App. No. 30141/04, Eur. Ct. H.R. (June 24, 2010). Held that the European Convention does not oblige States to open marriage to same-sex couples, while recognizing that a cohabiting same-sex couple enjoys "family life."	Persuasive	HUDOC database of the European Court of Human Rights (hudoc.echr.coe.int)
4.	Oliari v. Italy, App. Nos. 18766/11 & 36030/11, Eur. Ct. H.R. (July 21, 2015). Found that Italy violated Article 8 by failing to provide any legal framework recognizing and protecting same-sex unions.	Persuasive	HUDOC database of the European Court of Human Rights (hudoc.echr.coe.int)

5.	Orlandi v. Italy, App. No. 26431/12, Eur. Ct. H.R. (December 14, 2017). Held that Italy's refusal to give any form of recognition to same-sex marriages its nationals contracted abroad violated Article 8, a parallel to Filipino same-sex couples married abroad.	Persuasive	HUDOC database of the European Court of Human Rights (hudoc.echr.coe.int)
6.	Fedotova v. Russia, App. Nos. 40792/10, 30538/14 & 43439/14, Eur. Ct. H.R. (Grand Chamber, January 17, 2023). The Grand Chamber held that Article 8 imposes a positive obligation on States to provide a legal framework for the recognition and protection of same-sex couples.	Persuasive	HUDOC database of the European Court of Human Rights (hudoc.echr.coe.int)
7.	Case C-673/16, Coman v. Inspectoratul General pentru Imigrări, ECLI:EU:C:2018:385 (June 5, 2018). The Court of Justice of the European Union held that the term "spouse" in EU free-movement law includes a same-sex spouse, even in a Member State that does not allow same-sex marriage.	Persuasive	CURIA (curia.europa.eu); EUR-Lex (eur-lex.europa.eu)
8.	Gender Identity, and Equality and Non-Discrimination of Same-Sex Couples, Advisory Opinion OC-24/17, Inter-Am. Ct. H.R. (ser. A) No. 24 (November 24, 2017). The Inter-American Court of Human Rights opined that States must recognize and protect same-sex couples, including access to marriage, without discrimination. J.	SOURCES OF LAW FROM OTHER JURISDICTIONS
1.	Obergefell v. Hodges, 576 U.S. 644 (2015). The United States Supreme Court held that the Fourteenth Amendment requires States to license marriages between two persons of the same sex and to recognize such marriages performed elsewhere.	Persuasive	United States Reports; Supreme Court of the United States website; Cornell Legal Information Institute
2.	United States v. Windsor, 570 U.S. 744 (2013). Struck down Section 3 of the Defense of Marriage Act, which had defined marriage for federal purposes as only between a man and a woman.	Persuasive	United States Reports; Supreme Court of the United States website; Cornell Legal Information Institute
3.	Lawrence v. Texas, 539 U.S. 558 (2003). Invalidated laws criminalizing intimate same-sex conduct as violating the liberty protected by the due process clause, paving the way for later recognition of same-sex relationships.	Persuasive	United States Reports; Supreme Court of the United States website; Cornell Legal Information Institute
4.	Loving v. Virginia, 388 U.S. 1 (1967). Struck down bans on interracial marriage and affirmed marriage as a fundamental right, the precedent most often analogized in same-sex marriage litigation.	Persuasive	United States Reports; Supreme Court of the United States website; Cornell Legal Information Institute
5.	Goodridge v. Department of Public Health, 798 N.E.2d 941 (Mass. 2003).
